to pass under the bridge. After it was built the pipe of the steamboats were raised, and the question of fact was referred to Chancellor Walworth as a referee, to inquire and report. He reported that to satisfy the requirements of the public as to speed, these tong chimney pipes were essential in creating a strong draught, and that, "with the unskillful hands employed on the western rivers," they could not be lowered in passing the bridge without danger to the passengers, and therefore the bridge was a nuisance. The Court held (Taney and others dissenting) this report to be equivalent to a verdict, and decreed the removal of the bridge. This decision was allke contrary to the general convenience and common sense, and Congress orange. This decision was allike contrary to the general convenience and common sense, and Congress stepped in, and, by the law making the bridge a mailroute, prevented the Federal Court from forfeiting the sorral respect of the country by too slavish an adventor to a mere technical rule.

An official statement from the office of the Nicaragua Transit Company, confirms, as far as an exparte statement can confirm, our previous statements in regard to the situation of the questions in dispute between the Company and the State of Nicaragua, and disposes of all of them. It appears by this statement that the $10,000 annual payments on the Canal grant have been regularly paid, excepting that for 1855, which the Company have been enjoined by the agents of Messrs, Manning & Glenton from paying. We have made a personal examination of the books of the Company, and these payments appear there regularly made. The question of the 10 P cent on the transit profits, due the State of Nicaragua, was settled with Mr. French, who declared that, in his opinion, the Company owed the State nothing. The Company have made considerable payments to Mr. Marcoleta and carried a large number of mechanics, artizans, farmers, &c., to Nicaragua, by order of Minister French, for account of the Government. In this connection it is but justice to Mr. Charles Morgan, who has been charged with complicity while acting as the agent of the Transit Company, in obtaining the new grant and the annulment of the old one, that he denies explicitly that he had or has any interest in the new grant whatever, or that he took any steps to produce the action of Gen. Walker in this matter of the Transit Company. One of the parties who had bought some of the stock sold, seller's option four months by Mr. Morgan, has sued for the recovery of his money, and other suits we are told are impending. The statement of the Company is as follows:

The allegations upon which the decree of the Rivas-Walker government of Nicaragua, annulling the char-ter of the Transit Company, &c., is based, are totally

The Government drew annually for the $10,000 stip-ulated to be paid for the canal charter, and their drafts for the years 1849, '50, '51, 52, '53 and '54 were paid in cash.

In 1855 the Government drew for the $10,000 payable in September, but before the draft appeared.

in cash.

In 1855 the Government drew for the $10,000 payable in September, but before the draft appeared, the Company had notice of an assignment of the claim, and were legally enjoined by the holders of the assignment from paying said draft.

After numerous and fruitless attempts, for several years to effect a actilement with the Government, the Company sucdeeded in inducing them to send Commissioners here, who arrived in the Summer of 1855, with very full powers to settle all matters of difference and to ratify their own acts without referring them to the Government at Granada.

The Company, on their part, appointed three commissioners to meet those from Nicaragua—Messes Tejada and Lacayo. A long negotiation followed, during which the Nicaragua Commissioners offered to take $40,000 for all claims upon the State upon the Company, crediting and deducting from that sum all amounts that had been paid by the Company to the State on account of the 10 $\psi$ cent profit of the transit actors the Lethurs.

State on account of the 10 P cent profit of the transit across the Isthmus.

As the Commissioners of the Company deemed this a much larger sum than was due the State they declined the proposition; and, finding they were not likely to agree, both parties, late in November, 1855, appointed arbitrators, as provided in article 33 of the canal charter, (which is a part of the Transit charter.) On the part of the State Messrs. Royal Phelps and T. W. Riley, and on the part of the Company Messrs. F. B. Cutting and N. H. Wolfe were appointed—the four, as prescribed in the charter, to choose a fifth before proceeding to any other business. The decision of this Court to be final and binding upon both parties. A few days after the above appointments, and before the arbitrators had an opportunity to act, the following letter was received from the new Government in Nicaragua:

missioner of War:
Siz: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 12th

Company.

I beg in reply to say that having already appointed two commissioners to meet in this city two others chosen by the Government of Nicaragua through their constituted and fully authorized representatives or agents, our powers in the promises are exhausted, and the whole matter is in the hands of the said commissioners. If, however, both parties concur, they can, of course, annut these appointments, and beg to inquire if it is the wish of your Government to do so. You will perceive also that by the terms of the charter the place of meeting is to be settled by the commissioners chosen or to be chosen.

In confirmation of the views herein expressed, I refer you to the inclosed opinion of our comned, J. L. White, eaq., and expressing the confident hope that we shall speedily arrive at a just and satisfactory solution of all pending questions between the Company and the Government, I am, &c.

Then next incident in the history of this case was the

The next incident in the history of this case was the arrival of P. H. French, esq., on his way to Washington as Minister from Nicaragus. That gentleman brought a revocation of the powers of the Commissioners, Tejada and Lacayo, and an authority from the Government to settle all matters in difference between brought a revocation of the powers of the Commissioners, Tejada and Lacayo, and an authority from the Government to settle all matters in difference between the Government and the Company.

Several interviews were had between the parties; every facility was tendered by the Company to Mr. French to examine the books, either in person or by proxy. His engagements prevented his devoting much time to the subject, and before any conclusion was arrived at a communication was received by the Company from the Government of Granada revoking the powers of Mr. French in the premises.

On the 16th January, 1856, the Government of Nicaragua issued a decree assigning all claims upon the Company to Mesers. Manning and Glenten. Early in February a copy of this paper was served upon the Company; and so the matter stands. Since these negotiations commenced the Company have paid the State a large sum; in short, leaving out of view the large claims they have upon the Government for loss and damage sustained by reason of their failure to afford to the Company the protection provided for in the charter, have probably overpaid all dues to the State.

The Hon, Mr. French, on his last visit to the Compa ny's office, volunteered the remark that he should feel bound to report to his Government that, in his judgment, the Company did not owe the State one cent for the past, he thought quits would be best or fair, or something to that effect. The Grocer's Bank at Boston re-commenced business on Tuesday, under the management of the receivers, and during the day paid about $116,000 for their bills. beside about $50,000 on other claims.

A comparison of the footings of the weekly Bank statement of the Boston banks, with those of the statement of the previous week, exhibits the following results:

This increase of specie was drawn from New-York. A writer in The Boston Atlas figures out that at 9] V cent for Sterling Exchange the Rothschilds, who do not insure their gold shipments, make about 1 ? cent on bars shipped to London, and that even with insurance, bankers have a margin of 1 to 1 P cent. Hence he argues that gold will continue to flow to England. Sterling Exchange, however, is not 9] P cent, and in practice the result of gold shipments is always less than is shown by calculation.

The Virginia Legislature has passed a bill, which is now a law, rechartering, for six years, all the old Banks in that State. A report of the Finance Committee of the New Orleans Common Council, made on the 11th inst., thus estimates the deficit in the accounts of Mr. Garland, late Treasurer of the city:

foregoing statement, it is but right to suppose that partial off-ets could be furnished by the late Treasurer, were he in a position to settle his accounts with the

At the same meeting a letter was read from Mr. Gar-and, from which we make the following extract: "In our first interview I distinctly informed you that it never was my intention to wrong the city or any one out of a solitary cent; that errors and faults I might have committed, but that anything that I have or could command should be applied to correct any errors, or make good any discrepancies. Acting under the impulses of the dread of an arrest, I committed a foolish act, and am now suffering the penalty of my folly. It is uscless and painful to refer to the past, and such is not the object of this note: but it is to authorize you, as my attorneys, should you deem such a course proper, to offer all I have to be applied to correct and make good any discrepancies that may appear in my accounts. What these discrepancies are I cannot say, or how far they may be explained. No statement has been furnished me, and no distinct errors pointed out.
